Story by Larry Brumby

One man was going to a cave and he was alone. The wind blew very hard and the man was sleeping in a cave. He saw a man looking like a horse. He knew it was a demon with sharp claws and sharp teeth. The demon looked around and said to himself "I can smell a man - I can smell smoke. Someone must be here somewhere".

He climbed to the cave where the man was sleeping and didn't see him

In the morning the man went hunting and he speared one kangaroo. He cooked it on the sandhill. He went for a look and the devil was eating one man. It was the same one that he had seen in the cave. He thought, "I will run to the cave". And he ran and ran and ran. He was tired and he had a drink of water and climbed up to the cave. Then he heard a roaring noise still coming and he got his spear ready and made it sharp with a sharp rock. He saw the demon climbing after him. The man waited and when the demon came into the cave he threw his sharp spear at him; the demon was dead.

SPORT

Softball

Last week Yirara 2 had a convincing win, 21 - 14 over Det Set. Best players were Mildred and Jillian. Yirara 1 played a really good game against Pioneers. After being 12 runs down following the first innings they kept fighting and narrowed the margin to a 12 - 17 defeat. Suszina and Kathleen both played a good game as pitcher and catcher.

Basketball

In the first match of the competition, Yirara C defeated Rebels in a very tight and exciting game. Neil Limbari and Simon Green both scored six points. Ronnie Golder played well.

Cat Competition

Mrs. Prior's little kitten is now called MINNA. Congratulations to Chris Limbari, who thought of the name.

News of last week.

Walk-In by Simon Green

On Saturday night every student and four staff went to see the exciting film of James Bond. It cost us fourty cents to go in. Some students didn't have any money to go in like me. I had no money to go in so I am poor. Bruce Limbarai payed for me and I was glad I went in when the first film of James Bond started.

It was an exciting film so when I go in in I just sit down to relax and enjoy it. When the film had nearly come to an end it started rair 'ng big, strong and cold. Everbody rushed out into the bus to come to Yirara safe and dry. Not me, I was so wet, but I didn't think about the rain, I just kept watching the film of James Bond. When the film finished everybody went out to buy a drink and a pie. I went too so that I could beg money because I was hungry. The second film of James Bond made me so sleepy that I couldn't see the film properly, so I decided to come home to Yirara College.

Wiggleys by Bruce Limbiari

It was about 2 o'clock when we got ready to go to Wiggleys waterhole. We went on the Bull's bus and we enjoyed riding on the bus. When we got to Wiggleys we all got off the bus ans the road is also not suitable for big trucks. At Wiggleys the water was running so fats that we nearly went with the current. We saw some people drinking. They had a big black dog which they played with and they were having a good time. The water was cold, but the boys didn't mind ast all, cause they love swimming in the water. When we were ready to come back we had to wait for a long time so we all walked back. When we got to the Charles River the bus just come and got us and we went on our way back to the College. We enjoyed our time at Wiggleys.

Hunting by Murray Jabunangga Woods

On Sunday went hunting on the Bull's bus. We went south along the south road and we stopped at the little sandhill. We got off Bull's bus and walked. Douglas, Micah and I went to the big sandhills. We went over them and at the other side we saw a rabbit hole. Douglas started to dig for the rabbit and we were all digging. Douglas was digging with a stick and Micah and I were digging with our hands because the sand was sodgy to dig after the rains. We did not get one rabbit because the hole was too deep and we did not have a big digging stick. We went back to Bull's bus and we got in and came back to Yirara for supper,

Story by Marianne

We went swimming to the dam, down to the creek and we had lunch down there. All the people were looking for emu, kangaroo, and all the women were looking for goannas, honey-ants and bush tucker. My sister had a goanna, and she brought us honey-ants. When I was eating them all, and my brother had some. It was very sweet and tasty.

My father was showing me how to paint the country of Papunya and all around the mountains and the trees. Then I was sitting by myself painting and my sister Jillian took a picture of me making paintings of the rolling plains.

Emu Man by Stanely Gallacher

Once there was a man in a cave. He had lots of food. He had spears, an axe to cut down trees. One day he went hunting with his spear and axe. He saw an emu. He got out his spear and speared him. He took the emu back to his cave. He made a fire with two stones and he cooked him. He was drinking water and then he saw a kangaroo coming to the waterhole.

He ran very fast to a big tree.

He stood still. The kangaroo came closer and closer and he speared him.

Mathematical Teaser

Using all the numbers between 1 and 16, try to fill this number square so that each line, across, down and from corner to corner, adds up to 34. (Use each number once only).
